By Feb. 6 we had booked every available room that Loews would give us

They increased our contracted amount a few times

Eventually we had 2532 room nights

Originally we had 1800

Loews has 398 guest rooms

The chart below is the original outline

Revised Pick up report summary early 2/6

1808 - original
724 online

Approx 2532 total room nights by February 6

We were conservative with the number of room nights - by the time we needed more they would only provide approx 350 rooms (eventually....giving us 20 at a time)

They had agreements with online portals for x-amount and other smaller groups

By Feb 6 we had booked all the contracted rooms plus the extra rooms they provided

People had to find local AirBnBs and other hotels

Andrea Livingston on the current contract (see below)

The biggest thing that stands out to me is the 450 room block per night. I would highly recommend that we lower this to minimize financial risk. For academic conferences, the typical pickup rate is 30-50% of attendees who stay at the hotel. If we get 700 people there, that would be between 210-350 rooms per night. I checked our contract for the last in-person conference IONS held in 2019, where we had over 800 registrants, and we contracted for a block of 250 rooms. We met our room block but we didn't have a huge margin over it. I will find out from Abby historically what their pickup rate is at TSC, but if we move forward with this event, I would highly suggest we lower the number of rooms that we are financially committing to through this contract to 350 or under.

There are a few other things that I would want to try and negotiate, which are:

- Attrition Clause: Hotel will make commercially reasonable efforts to resell unused rooms and credit any resale revenue against attrition damages. (This is pretty standard)

- AV: Outside AV allowed without liaison fee. (We will definitely be bringing outside A/V so need to negotiate no fee or a cap on their liaison fee)
- Shipping Costs: 50% discount on package handling (Because we are planning this conference from afar, it would be very helpful to get the package handling prices reduced)

Arnaud Delorme on the current contract (see below)

1. Cancellation penalties are aggressive

- Upon signature through April 3, 2026, the cancellation fee is $506,238 (70%). From April 4 to July 12, it increases to $578,558 (80%). From July 13 to October 10, it rises to $650,878 (90%).
- More commonly, cancellation fees 6 to 9 months before an event range between 50% and 70%, rather than escalating to 80% starting April 4.

2. AV vendor is expensive and can pile up

- $160 per hour minimum and $240 per hour for overtime.
- Pinnacle Live has the exclusive right to provide AV equipment and services for all meeting and breakout rooms. With 6 to 8 breakout rooms, AV costs could become very expensive. A Pinnacle Live liaison must also be present during load in, event operation, and load out. The other hotel (Hyatt) was more flexible on these points.
- If we do not use Pinnacle AV, we lose the 20% AV discount and the complimentary meeting room internet. Note that since this was written, we have negotiated these clauses and they have been removed.
- The good news is that there is a force majeure clause.
- Overall, aside from the AV issue, which we should price carefully with the hotel and possibly limit by avoiding filming events, it looks like a good deal. If we bring our own crew for the main room, which will likely be cheaper, we should try to negotiate free internet in the meeting room anyway.

3. Room block (and in response to Andrea's analysis)

Regarding the rooms, we need to balance fiscal management with people's frustration.

- First, academics (probably >50%) pay out of grants and are less sensitive to room cost.
- Second, in past editions, rooms always ran out too quickly and people got frustrated.
- Third, unless you have a car, there are not that many options nearby.
- Fourth, there are also IONS members, and depending on how we market it, we could attract a substantial number of people.

My take is 400 rooms instead of 450.

- 100 reserved for IONS members (different code)
- 300 reserved for standard TSC participants (this is conservative)

If we think we might get 150 IONS participants, then we could bump it up to 450 rooms. Ideally, with Sandra we would reserve a smaller room block and then increase it after one month. I am not sure how doable that is or whether we would get a good deal on the second block reservation.

Contract deadline (already extended twice): March 20th

Pinnacle Live maintains an office and a complete inventory of state of the art audio, visual equipment and a full time staff on property. Their experience working in coordination with the Hotels' operating departments will ensure your event is a success and allow for seamless communication with your event manager.
